Midwest Pummeled By Winds Destruction And Injuries Heavy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornado winds pummeled western Ohio and parts of Indiana Friday night, leaving a trail of destruction and injury.

More than a score of persons were reported hurt, most of them when 10 homes were flattened and perhaps a half-dozen others damaged in a new subdivision in Sidney, Ohio.

Sidney Police Chief John Warner said it was a tornado that had hit his town, although he himself didn't actually see it. The Darke County, Ohio, sheriff's office said it was a twister that struck the little village of Ansonia.

Not Seen on Radar

But the U. S. Weather Bureau in Cincinnati said its radar didn't pick up any tornado blips, only a "moderate to strong cell (of weather) associated with a reported tornado at Sidney."

Other places with heavy wind damage, but where twisters could not be confirmed, were Troy and Union City, Ohio.

State trooper Frank Ballard said a twister hit Redkey in northeastern Indiana, tearing a roof off the post office, slightly injuring two persons and leaving small trees and branches strewn through the town. Damage there was estimated at about $25,000.

Other Destruction

Another violent storm, which some residents near Iudville in northwestern Indiana described as a "twister," but not confirmed as such—destroyed a house and damaged several barns.

The storm, moving west to east from Indiana into Ohio, hit hardest at Sidney, in terms of injuries. But of the 18 to 20 hurt there in the wind-ravaged subdivision, only one was admitted to the hospital. The others were treated for cuts and bruises and released.

Thundershowers pelted a vast region of the nation from the southern Plateau region northeastward to the upper Mississippi Valley.

Southern Illinois mopped up after a third consecutive day of thundershowers brought near-record rainfall to several communities. Effingham received nearly 2 inches during the night, and power failed for an hour. Curs moved through hubcap-deep water in several areas of southern Illinois.

Six persons were slightly injured when a bus carrying 21 passengers skidded off a highway near Mount Vernon, Ill., during the storm. Rainfall measured 4 inches in Normis City, Ill., and 2 inches in Vandalia.

Forecasts were for pleasant midsummer weather throughout the day.

Senate Passes 6 Bills to Strike At Rich Crimes

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy looking on from the gallery, the Senate passed without dissent six of his bills designed to strike at rich crime syndicates.

The measures, approved Friday, now go to the House.

Asked by Kennedy to arm the government with new weapons for his declared fight with the underworld, the bills would:

— Make it a federal crime to use telephone or telegraph to transmit gambling information — mainly horse race results, odds and bets — across state lines. It would exempt transmission of racing or other sporting news by newspapers and wire services. Penalties for violations: Up to two years in prison, $10,000 fine.

— Declare it a felony to transport gambling paraphernalia — such as tickets or slips for illegal handbook betting, betting pools, numbers games. Penalty: Up to five years in prison, $10,000 fine.

— Tighten obstruction-of-justice laws, to punish racketeers or others who use violence or coercion to prevent witnesses from giving information to the justice of Treasury departments. Penalty: Up to five years in prison, $5,000 fine.

— Allow grants of immunity from prosecution to witnesses pleading the Fifth Amendment in trials or grand jury investigations concerning labor racketeering.

— Make it a felony to travel across a state line or use the mails to engage in or further racketeering enterprises. Penalty: Up to five years in prison, $10,000 fine.

— Ban interstate shipment of gambling machines and devices other than pinball and better equipment used at licensed gambling establishments, such as race tracks, which are legal under state law.

Wonderly Denies Signing, Not Against Zoning Change

C. E. Wonderly, president of the Uptown Businessmen's Association, said today that he is highly incensed over a matter which appeared in a quarter-page display advertisement in the Freeman on Friday with his name signed to it.

He said this morning that another member of the association had publicized the letter in the Freeman without his knowledge.

Wonderly explained that it was his understanding that the letter was to be mailed privately to Mayor Edwin F. Radel and members of the Common Council. He indicated further that he had not signed the letter which appeared over his signature.

The letter had emphatically opposed a zoning change below the uptown business district for a proposed shopping center.

Wonderly said as president of the association he will go along with majority opinion which is against the proposed new shopping center.

He made it clear however, that, as an individual, he is not opposed to the zoning change or the new shopping center, that he favors more and better competition in the development which will improve the uptown area.

Two Defense Requests Get Unanimous Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has given unanimous support to two of President Kennedy's urgent defense requests.

Party lines dissolved Friday as the Senate passed in rapid succession:

Authorization for $975,570,000 for quick delivery of new missiles, ships and planes. The vote was 81-0.

Four of Five Men Caught Following Matteawan Escape

BEACON, N.Y. (AP)—Four of five escaped inmates of Matteawan State Hospital, including the slayer of Greenwich Village poet Maxwell Bodenheim, were captured today.

Harold Weinberg, 33, the poet's killer, was found hiding in woods a few miles from the institution shortly after three other inmates were picked up in the same vicinity.

Police believed the remaining escapee, Pedro Arroyo, 31, was hiding somewhere in the woodland area.

Saved Iron Bar

The five saved an iron bar in a washroom of the institution shortly before midnight and fled.

John F. McNeill, superintendent of the hospital, said state troopers and hospital guards found the inmates. They offered no resistance.

The first escapees picked up were Raphael Batista, 35, Steve Wuchich, 40, and Walter Pierce, 19.

Charges Against Them

Weinberg and Arroyo were charged with murder. Batista with violation of the Sullivan anti-weapons law; Wuchich, extortion; and Pierce grand larceny and burglary.

Weinberg, a dishwasher, was committed April 7, 1954, for the bizarre Greenwich Village slaying of Bodenheim and his wife in Weinberg's dingy apartment. The bodies of the Bodenheims were found Feb. 7, 1954. The one-time village poet laureate, 63, had been shot to death and his wife, Ruth Fagan, 35, had been stabbed. No motive for the murders ever was made public.

Arroyo, a mustachioed dandy from Spanish Harlem, was committed after he admitted to New York City police Feb. 14, 1961, that he killed three girl friends in quick succession during a wild outburst of jealous rage.

Tradition About Rain Holds Up in Pennsy

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP)—Rain fell early today in the southwestern Pennsylvania town of Waynesburg, and many residents are saying "I told you so."

Tradition has it that rain has fallen in this Greene County community about 76 times on the date in the past 86 years.

The few scattered drops of rain that kept the legend alive fell shortly after midnight. The fact was confirmed by two policemen, Ralph Moore and Charles Shaw.

Medical Board Secretary Resigns in Wake of Probe

ALEANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Stiles D. Ezell has resigned his $13,162-a-year job as secretary of the State Board of Medical Examiners in the wake of a probe involving a board examination given prospective physicians.

Dr. James E. Allen, State education commissioner said Friday night findings of a departmental investigation of alleged irregularities were being turned over to Dist. Atty. Frank P. Hogan of New York City "for such action as he deems appropriate."

Allen announced Ezell's resignation in a separate, one-sentence

House Committee 37-0

Earlier Friday the House Armed Services Committee approved the measures by a 37-0 vote. Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., said he would ask House action early next week.

The additional $3,454,600,000 requested by Kennedy to strengthen conventional fighting forces was tacked onto the regular annual defense money bill by a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., manager for the money bill, said senators had agreed to withhold details until the full Appropriations Committee gives its approval Tuesday.

But other senators said the committee not only put in all of the President's latest requests but also tacked on $1 billion more of defense items.

More for Bombers

Reported approved was $325 million to continue production of long-range B52 bombers and $448 million to push development of B70 supersonic bombers as a complete weapon system.

Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had asked no funds to continue jet bomber production and recommended that the B70 be limited to an experimental prototype aircraft rather than a complete weapons system.

These extra funds would push the current fiscal defense outlay up about $17 billion.

Protest About Allies

Despite the unanimous Senate vote there were sharp protests that the European Allies—Britain, France and West Germany—were not carrying their share of the added burdens.

"We must force our Allies to do their share," Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., a long-time foe of foreign aid, said.

The reserve call-up bill was passed without a proposed "lump sum" incentive payment sought by Sen. Francis Case, R-S.D., for those volunteering for 12 months duty. Case, in his amendment, also proposed extra pay for all men called up under the build-up program, whether they volunteered or not. It was shouted down.

Wants Sole Right To Choose Premier

VIETIANE, Laos (AP) — King Vathana today convened the National Assembly to discuss changes in the constitution that would enable him to pick a new premier without assembly approval.

The three political princes of Laos have asked the king to choose a premier to head a unified government representing the neutralist elements in the divided country.

Two of the princes — Western-backed Premier Boum Oum and neutralist Souvanna Phouma — are expected to meet at the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh Monday to discuss a coalition.

Prince Souphanouvong, chief of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels, has refused to attend. He insists the talks be held in Pathet Lao territory.

Statement Issued Simultaneously

Asked whether there was a connection between the resignation and the probe, an Education Department spokesman replied: "Obviously so, since both announcements were made simultaneously."

Ezell, 54, of suburban Loudonville, was unavailable for comment.

The licensing examination, prepared by the Board of Medical Examiners, was given June 27 in New York City.

Some Having Hope East Is To Offer More

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP) — Thousands of people flee from Communist East Germany every week, but a couple of hundred also leave the West in the hope of finding greener pastures under Red rule.

The number who deliberately choose communism is small and apparently declining. Mostly they are people with little interest in politics.

A peak—about 50,000—was arrived at in 1959, when life seemed to be improving under Communist rule. That was the year the flow to the West from the Communist east hit a 10-year low of 143,000.

Takes on More Meaning

The immensely larger number who leave the Communist area takes on more meaning when you remember that there are only a third as many people in the Red zone as in the West German Federal Republic.

Strictly speaking, neither group includes many refugees—people fleeing for safety. Those who quit West Germany for the Communist-ruled area are not hindered.

Fear Being Caught

Leaving Communist rule without official permission is a punishable offense called "flight from the republic." Those who go, go secretly for fear of being caught and at least turned back. They do not risk taking much baggage. What they leave behind is confiscated.

Anyone quitting West Germany can take what he likes with him, send what he likes. He can sell what he doesn't want and convert the proceeds into Communist East German currency at a favorable rate.

People in West Germany attach little importance to the small movement to the Communist-ruled East.

"When a jackass is enjoying life too much, he goes dancing on the ice," says a German proverb.

Second Greenville Barn Hit by Fire

Another barn with farming equipment, the second in as many days, was destroyed by fire Thursday night on Route 81 Greenville in Greene County.

The barn was owned by William Butler and contained a garden tractor, lumber and other farm implements. No estimate of damage was given. Volunteers of Greenville and Norton Hill Fire Companies responded.

Wednesday night fire destroyed the barn of John Friedewald on Route 32 south of Greenville. About 2,500 bales of hay and a truck and furniture were consumed by the blaze.

France Defying Attempt Of U.N. to Interfere in Dispute With Tunisia

Parade Is At 5 Today In Paltz

35 Companies, 16 Bands in Lineup

Members of 35 fire companies of Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will parade in New Paltz today "rain or shine", bringing to a close the 26th annual convention of the association. The parade will start at 5 p. m.

In line will be 16 musical organizations. Members of the Little New Paltz League are also scheduled to participate in the parade in observance of their 10th anniversary.

Oscar Lambert, chief of Esopus Fire Company, was elected president at the annual business meeting Friday evening at New Paltz Firehouse. He succeeds Ernest Ahlberg of New Paltz.

Name Saugerties Man

George Ohley of Saugerties was elected first vice president and the position of second vice president was left open until the September meeting.

Fred C. Harder, veteran officer of the association, was re-elected secretary for his 20th term. He first assumed that office in 1942 and close behind is Henry DuBois of New Paltz who was re-elected last night for his 18th term as treasurer, having been first elected to that office in 1944.

Morton Finch of Kingston was elected director for the five year term.

At the annual session 34 companies were represented with 150 members in attendance when President Ahlberg called the meeting to order at 8:30 o'clock. A fire demonstration was held at 8 o'clock under direction of Lawson Upright of Gardiner. This demonstration showed the effectiveness of fighting oil fires with water and powder.

Visitors Welcomed

The visiting firemen were welcomed to New Paltz for their convention and parade by John Weaver, president of New Paltz Fire Department, after which a letter was read from Lewis "Casey" Jones of Connelly, who had been recommended for president. Jones, because of the press of personal business, declined the honor and stated that in his opinion he would be unable to devote the time necessary to the conduct of the business.

After President Ahlberg had thanked the committees serving during the past year for their splendid cooperation, he gave a report on the activities of the Board of Supervisors and said that when the association

College Students Tutor HS Pupils, Nobody Is Paid

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP)—Try to set up a school with unpaid teachers and volunteer students, and what do you get?

Yale sophomore Joseph Lieberman, 19, used this unpromising formula and came up with a thriving summer tutorial program.

With the help of local school officials, Lieberman enlisted 38 other college students as teachers. They attracted 105 junior, high and high school youngsters to the free classes.

Lieberman initially conceived and organized his do-it-yourself corps as a remedial reading and mathematics program for youngsters lagging in these areas.

However, other children wanted to participate, too, and courses in literature, algebra and foreign languages were added to the curriculum.

For the youngsters who find reading difficult and dull, the college students are presenting materials like comic books and hot rod magazines—anything that will get them interested in reading.

Other classes are studying adult fare like Aldous Huxley's novel "Brave New World."

No academic credit is given for any of the courses.

Lieberman, who got the idea while working on a project for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he first hoped to set up the program for Negro students.

The program received such a favorable response, however, that no attempt was made to restrict it, he said.

The sub-stations are at Malone, Plattsburgh, Glens Falls, Amsterdam, Schenectady, Troy, Oneonta, Kingston and Poughkeepsie, Middletown and Newburgh, under New York City's jurisdiction, will come under the Albany office Tuesday.

Council Is Advised on Violation

U. S. Reluctant To Offend France

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)

—France stood pat today in defying any U. N. attempt to interfere in her dispute with Tunisia. The Security Council neared a vote on the Bizerte crisis, which has caught the United States in a squeeze.

Speculation mounted that France might break her boycott of the debate and use the veto to block an Asian-African resolution accusing her of flouting the week-old cease-fire call in Tunisia.

Council Is Advised

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld told the council Friday night he had received evidence during his recent trip to Tunisia that France had violated the council's cease-fire and assumed functions on Tunisian soil "normally reserved to a sovereign state."

U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson conferred for 50 minutes in Paris Friday with President Charles de Gaulle on the Bizerte crisis.

Stevenson, chief of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations, said he hoped "there will be a mutually satisfactory resolution to this unfortunate affair."

Tunisia Wants the United States to Make Good on Its Promises

Tunisia wants the United States to make good on its promises of friendship to newly independent nations and back Tunisia's demands that France pull out of her big air-naval base at Bizerte.

Reluctant About De Gaulle

The United States has been reluctant to offend De Gaulle at a time when Western unity is vital in dealing with Soviet demands on Berlin.

France has made it clear it would not be bound by any decision the Security Council makes on Bizerte.

The De Gaulle government issued a statement in Paris Friday charging Tunisia with trying to obtain through U. N. intervention what she had failed to get by force after four days of bloody fighting in Bizerte.

"It is necessary to make it known," said the French statement, "that France has certainly no intention of settling the issue through such a procedure."

Will Vote If Necessary

A French delegation spokesman told a reporter: "We will vote if necessary," sparking speculation that France might use the veto if need be to knock down the resolution put in by the United

Mother Is Given Suspended Term In Relief Case

UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—An attractive 32-year-old mother of two Friday received a 30-day suspended jail term for chiseling $138 from the Oneida County Welfare Department.

Mrs. Rita Cangi of Utica is the first person to be tried and convicted of welfare chiseling in the county's new crackdown, which has resulted in removal of 21 persons from the welfare rolls.

Mrs. Cangi pleaded guilty to charges she had received the welfare payments over a three-month period during which she also was receiving $23 a month in unemployment benefits, as well as payments from her estranged husband. She reportedly has repaid the welfare department.

County Welfare Commissioner Michael J. McGuire said Mrs. Cangi had received $34.57 a month from the department under the aid-to-dependent-children program to supplement payments from her husband. She has been removed from the rolls, McGuire said.

"We have a number of other cases against persons suspected to be receiving payments illegally," the commissioner said. "The county's crackdown on welfare chiseling, after dark visits to welfare recipients suspected of chiseling. The state says the program is legal."

Man, 60, on Work Relief Dies Shoveling in Heat

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—A 60-year-old man was shoveling debris onto a city truck in 88-degree heat. He said he was not feeling well. The crew foreman told him to take it easy. But, before they got to the next street-cleaning stop, the man collapsed and died.

The victim, Harold Hinman, was on a work-relief project of the Oneida

by Howard Brodie

"Christians must learn from one another; let us all have the courage and mutual respect to speak together as free men," says Archbishop Iakovos, warm-hearted Primate of the Greek Orthodox Church of North and South America. As representative of Eastern Orthodoxy with 6 million U. S. members, he was invited to pray at President Kennedy's inauguration. The tall, confident Archbishop, an American citizen with close Protestant ties, was elected a President of the World Council of Churches.

"Believing we have the one truth does not keep us apart," he believes, "if one stands on firm ground, he can stretch forth his arms to embrace others, too."

Nearly everyone in town reads a daily newspaper. Among the heaviest readers, according to a survey by the Psychological Corporation, are upper social-economic urban families. Another study by the U. S. Department of Agriculture found middle and high income groups were heavier newspaper readers than low income groups. This survey showed 73% of the low income group said they had read the newspaper, while the score increased to 88% for middle income groups and 95% for high income groups. No matter what service or product you sell, no matter what income group you want to reach, you reach more people through the daily newspaper.

Local Church Pastor To Speak on Satan

"Is There A Personal Devil" is the question that will be asked and answered by the Rev. Willard D. Crunkilton, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, 131 Franklin Street, at 7 p. m., Sunday.

A question often discussed among theologians, a moot theme with the laity as well, the pastor will indicate what the Scriptures teach on the subject, and make an application of Bible truth to our present day, the pastor said.

"If there is no personal devil, how else shall we account for events and trends in this world of ours? What ground have we for a belief in God, if we reject the usual arguments for the existence of Satan?" These and similar questions will be discussed, the pastor said.

"If the devil is responsible for all he has been blamed for he should be revealed and exposed. If there is no such personality, this should be declared and established," according to the pastor.

The message will be preceded by a song service led by George Shaver.

Mormon Pageant Opens Four-Night Program Aug. 2

PALMYRA, N. Y. (AP) — The 19th renewal of "America's Witness for Christ," an epic drama relating the Mormon Church beliefs that a lost tribe of Israel reached the American Continent and survived as the American Indian, opens a four-night stand on Hill Cumorah Wednesday night.

The sweeping pageant is staged and performed by 350 young missionaries and members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

The rich, recorded drama and music, with which the actors synchronize their action on a series of 25 stages, will be performed for the pageant by the Utah Symphony Orchestra and the combined choirs of Brigham Young University. Directing the pageant, as he has since its first performance in 1937, is Dr. Harold I. Hansen, chairman of the department of speech and the dramatic arts at Brigham Young.

Hill Cumorah is a wooded eminence in a 500-acre tract owned by the church. It is two miles south of this Central New York village and 24 miles southeast of Rochester.

Joseph Smith, the founder of the Mormon Church, reported that it was on this hill in 1823 that he was led to the golden tablets on which was written the Book of Mormon.

According to Mormon belief, the tablets contained the written history of an American civilization that flourished from 600 B.C. until a final, climactic battle between the forces of good and evil. One of the last survivors of the civilization was Moroni, son of the prophet Mormon, the history relates. He left the tablets on the hill.

One of this year's improvements on the site was burial of four miles of cables underground, where the actors can't trip over them.

This is the first year the pageant has been offered for four nights, extending through Saturday. Increasing public demand, indicated by nearly 100,000 spectators for three nights last year, prompted the extension.

No admission is charged. The performances start at 9 p. m. (EDT).

BOOK REVIEW

To increase further interest in reading books, the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

THE PRIVATE WORLD OF HIGH SOCIETY BY LUCY KAVALER

Not long ago, Cleveland Amory wrote a book in the title of which he inquired, "Who Killed Society?" Now along comes this book in which Miss Kavalier shows that, during the past two decades, High Society has been increasing by leaps and bounds, and she shows, in detail, just how it is being done.

It's quite a scramble and the story of how social status is attained by women determined to — at least — be accepted in the expanding circle of socialites surrounding the "Inner Circle" is a very interesting one. Of course no one becomes a member of the inner circle except by birth or sometimes marriage.

This outer but important ring has been growing rapidly since the end of World War 2 when a great many people acquired large fortunes and thought that social doors would open to them. Money is a powerful wedge no less in society than elsewhere. Large contributions to various charities were a big first step. Then they must be admitted to memberships in important clubs, associations, etc.; secure a listing in the Social Register if possible; engage in church activities; learn the rules and rituals of high society and observe them rigidly. Then, when a beach head is established move on to greater prominence.

And don't overlook men in this campaign. A business executive husband can exert a powerful influence in this game. And many are glad to do it. It is a pleasant diversion from the boring life of the present day Organization Man.

Miss Kavalier draws a clear picture of the making of a debutante from entering her into the right dancing class to her presentation at the right cotillion when, in her white frock (always white) she whirls away in her father's arms in the first waltz.

After that there are more walls to be scaled; more and more invitations to more important Assemblies for the debutante. There are so many barriers to social prominence that one would think aspirants would give up the struggle. On the contrary the battle grows hotter and more and more are forcing their way in, so that it would seem that presently nearly everyone will be "in" and then membership will be meaningless and the real distinction will be not to belong. However, that will probably never happen. Too many institutions benefit from the big charity balls and too many industries, private schools and the like derive heavy profits from society patronage.

It is a merry whirl and the author gives a clear picture of the many facets of high society. She tells of the mystery of the social register and gives a directory of the right private schools — Boys and Girls — a list of the nation's debutante balls and a list of cities where there are Junior League chapters. The league, by the way, is societies most worthwhile organization. Their members work hard for their communities, hospitals, etc. They are obliged to. Their ingenuity in ways to be helpful is admirable. The author even mentions the Junior League Loan Closet in Kingston.

There is information about press agents; about how to get one's photos in the society page of leading newspapers. There is a rundown of society in large cities across the nation with a lot of information about their important clubs, balls, first families, etc., in each. The relative importance of each city, socially, just where each stands on the social ladder, and a whole of a lot of information about the exact rank of the various clubs; schools, churches, cotillions; assemblies — all the way from the St. Cecilia Ball of Charleston down to the suburban country clubs. Information about the right places to live; the right clothes; the right hair-dos; the right cars are listed. And don't think each and every one of these items — and many more — are not important to social climbers who would rather be caught dead than in the wrong compartment.

There's even a chapter about Negro society in America, which is an eye-opener.

Whether you admire the doings of high society, or whether you scorn them, you'll be bound to be interested in this inside story of contemporary American high society.

Jetliner Circles Two Airports Till Gear Trouble Over

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A huge Trans World Airlines jetliner circled two Southern California airports for three hours with a disabled nosewheel landing gear before the crew was able to rectify the trouble Friday night.

The four-jet Convair 880 finally made a routine landing. It carried 42 passengers and 8 crewmen on a planned flight to Boston by way of Chicago.

Capt. H. L. Brubaker noticed a loss of hydraulic fluid when the plane was over eastern Arizona, 90 miles out of Los Angeles.

He turned back and circled Los Angeles International Airport for an hour, trying to get the balky nose gear to function. Then plans were made to bring the ship down on a carpet of fire-retarding foam at the El Toro Marine Corps air station, 45 miles to the south.

But during the two hours Brubaker circled that airstrip, crewmen were able to inject water into the hydraulic system. Pressure returned and the nose gear was lowered and locked.

The jetliner then returned to Los Angeles and landed at International Airport.

In Houston, Tex., meantime another Convair 880 delayed its landing there and dumped 12,000 pounds of fuel in Galveston Bay because of trouble with the flaps. The flaps provide additional lift to the wings and allow the pilot to come in at slower speeds.

The plane, Delta Airlines Flight 851 from Chicago to St. Louis to Houston, carried 40 passengers. It landed about 15 minutes behind schedule.

2 Won't Return, Others Taking $75,000 to Castro

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Invasion prisoners paroled by Fidel Castro, may be two men short when they return to Cuba. But they don't expect to go back empty-handed from their quest for tractor-purchase funds to ransom fellow captives.

Two prisoners, Reynaldo Pico and Milton Collazo, were quoted by another, Luis Morse, as saying they may not return to Cuba with the other eight who planned to leave Monday.

No reason was given by Pico and Collazo for possibly remaining behind, said Morse. The two men themselves could not be reached for comment.

Morse said he did not think Castro would deal harshly with the prisoners who observed their parole by returning to captivity in Cuba.

Morse disclosed that he had received a check for $75,000 from Arturo Torano, president of a Tampa Cuban tractors for freedom committee.

A similar committee of Cubans has been attempting to raise tractor purchase funds at Miami. Morse, Pico, Collazo and other members of the prisoner-tractor negotiating committee were captured with more than 1,100 invaders of Cuba April 17.

Castro has said he would free the prisoners for a supply of tractors from the United States.

Lesson in Fewer Trumps

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

No series of articles on the 4-4 major fit would be complete without one example of the classic situation where a 4-4 trump fit produces one more trick than a 5-4 trump fit in another suit.

North's diamond opening and South's one spade response are normal and it is up to North to make a strong second round bid.

His choice of four spades is probably the correct one although it does put quite a burden on South. Many players would pass with the South hand, but he does have 11 points, a diamond fit and a good four card spade suit so his five diamond call can't be too bad.

Needless to say, North will go on to a slam and he had better go there in spades. If he goes there in diamonds he will miss his contract by one trick.

Playing at six spades South wins the opening club lead, draws trumps with three leads and runs off five diamonds to get rid of his other club. Then he ruffs dummy's last club and eventually loses one heart trick. Note that he could not make the slam against a 4-1 trump break but the diamond slam could not make as long as the opponents lived through the entire hand.

Don't Marry Stocks,
Market Change Certain

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—"I do not know anything about investments. However, four common stocks have been left me by my sister, and she had so much faith in them that I do not want to make any changes. All my holdings are in copper stocks, including Magma, O'okiep, Newmont and Hudson Bay Mining & Smelting. My husband thinks I should sell at least some of them and buy other stocks. What is your opinion?"

—E. Z.

A—I'm going to side with your husband on this one. You see, among the most common of all the investment mistakes I encounter is "getting married" to certain stocks.

One of the most fascinating things about the investment business is its constant movement and change. A stock that was a highly regarded investment several years ago may since have lost much of its promise.

This is not to say that all your sister's stocks are poor holdings and must immediately be sold. However, I do feel that you could improve your position considerably if certain swaps were made. My suggestion that you switch two of your stocks—O'okiep and Magma — into better quality issues such as Morgan Guaranty Trust (OTC) and Public Service Electric & Gas (NYSE).

I believe that this move will upgrade your entire portfolio and provide the stability you need until you have had time to become better versed in common stocks.

Q—"I intend to go into business and need money, but I still have a house mortgage at 4 1/2 per cent. I own shares in Permanente Cement, Kaiser Industries, Colgate-Palmolive, One William Street Fund, Consolidated Freightways and Midland Capital Corporation. Is it better for me to sell some of my stocks, or should I borrow on them?"

—O. N.

A—Almost all bankers consider stocks to be pretty good collateral for loan purposes, and you could certainly borrow on your stocks. However, the prospects for Permanente Cement and Consolidated Freightways don't seem particularly bright, and I think you would probably be better off if you sold them for the cash you need.

FACTS OF PLANE FIRES

Fire is a hazard more feared by some people than any imaginable catastrophe. There is good point, therefore, in offering reassurances on this score when they can be given.

One field in which the peril has been well publicized is commercial aviation. Fire often seems to be a disastrous follow-up of headline-making accidents like the recent jet mishap in Denver.

Oddly, until a few months ago there had been no solid study as to just how great a danger fire is in air travel. The details from an unpublished report by the Civil Aeronautics Board's Bureau of Safety are heartening.

In the 20-year period 1940 through 1959, there were 266 air accidents involving fatalities, including operations of both the scheduled and nonscheduled airlines. This total, of course, must be set against the many billions of miles flown—nine billion in just the last 11 years.

Out of those 266 "fatality" crashes, 86 led to some sort of fire after impact with the ground or other craft.

The encouraging aspect is this: In only 25 of the 86 involving fire was it judged by CAB analysts that fire itself was either the likely or the possible cause of certain resulting deaths. In the other 61 cases, death was either avoided or was properly ascribed to other causes.

This means that fire has been reasonably considered a possible cause of death in roughly nine per cent of all the commercial air accidents which produced fatalities in the 1940-59 span. Figures and details for 1960, in some ways a bad accident year, were of course too incomplete for inclusion in CAB's special study.

None of this is intended to suggest there is any comfort to the traveler in death by other means than fire. But insofar as reports of flaming crashes stir special fears among the traveling public, these official findings offer important guidelines.

Since the study was prepared for the information largely of the CAB's own safety analysts, it can hardly be taken as a public whitewash of the "fire factor" in air crashes. What it does is put the problem in sensible, unemotional perspective.

There should be no minimizing of this peril, but neither should there be dramatic and reckless exaggeration of it.

The United States fires the first missile alarm satellite to pass over Russia. It's in 1,850-mile orbit—and may send Khrushchev just as high.

Maybe the Red Chinese have agreed to Kremlin control of the Communist push for world supremacy, but they'll not be asleep in the back seat.

ON OTHER SHOULDERS

One of the most thought-provoking assertions of Adolph Eichmann was his insistence that he was only a small cog in the Nazi machinery—that he was under orders, bound by oath, and therefore not to be blamed for the horrors he committed. He claimed that in his mind he transferred the "onus of responsibility" to his superiors in the Nazi hierarchy.

Many lesser crimes than Eichmann's have been supposedly justified with this same excuse. But they have been crimes, nevertheless, both against individuals and against society. It is what happens when one surrenders his conscience to the will of authority. But what is conscience if not bound up with belief in God and in the supreme worth of all children of God?

Adolph Eichmann and such a man as Dr. Albert Schweitzer thus stand at opposite poles—the one filled with contempt, the other with love and a keen sense of responsibility; and they are so judged, by their actions as well as by their words. The Eichmann case is a reminder to be careful that we mold our actions not by any worldly authority, but by a higher authority than man's, lest we fall into Eichmann's trap and endeavor to place the

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
BARRY GOLDWATER

Great political leaders are more likely to emerge in the United States Senate than in administrative offices. Few have achieved the distinction of primary leadership that Barry Goldwater has so swiftly and surely earned.

Barry Goldwater ran against the tide, but the tide turned for him. He pronounced himself to be a Conservative when that was a dirty word in politics. Whereas such men as Senator Joe McCarthy never asserted an ideological position, except opposition to Communism, Goldwater presents a positive program of conservative thinking. I have heard at least two persons accused of ghost-writing his book. I should imagine that Barry Goldwater did make the mistake of calling upon a friend to correct the punctuation or the paragraphing. It is always wrong to employ ghost-writers, but knowing Goldwater, I can say that he discusses his position more ably than he has written it. He knows what he believes to be true and no one who is said to be his ghost-writer is as able as he is. We can therefore skip such trivia as whether he did or not employ a ghost-writer for his book.

Barry Goldwater is the first conservative politician who has cracked the hard crust of collegiate liberalism. He has not only spoken on an extraordinarily large number of campuses but he has established an image for leadership, so that a large number of young people have organized themselves into associations which accept the leadership of Goldwater, politically and sociologically. Even Robert A. Taft did not succeed in this, he not having had the warm personality which appeals to youth.

The significance of Barry Goldwater politically is that he has a program which is a novelty in American politics where the tendency is to be expedient. Goldwater avoids the expedient and adheres to principle — his own statement of principle, which is gaining in strength, especially in the South and among students. The election of Senator Tower of Texas represents a victory for Goldwater who supported Tower, but even more because they represent identical points of view.

The weakness of the Republican Party since the defeat of Herbert Hoover in 1932 has been that it has labored hard to win without a program. Al Landon, Wendell Willkie, Thomas E. Dewey represented, in the Republican mind, candidates who could win on personality. The election became something like an Oscar contest in the motion picture business. The real difficulty that these men faced was that it was not a personality that the American people were seeking but a leader, a man of ideas, a person who would be different from Roosevelt or Truman. The one man in the Republican Party who might have presented such an image to the country was Robert A. Taft whom the party refused to nominate for President.

The argument against Taft was not that his ideas and purposes were wrong but that he could not win. In a word, winning at any cost represented the concept of the party leadership and sponsors. They would not risk a debate over principles. And so, ultimately they elected Dwight D. Eisenhower who did win.

But what did Eisenhower stand for? What was his program? What has he meant historically? The answer is that John F. Kennedy realistically succeeded Harry Truman, that there has been an eight year interregnum so far as the Presidency is concerned. During the Eisenhower Administration, Congress took control. When the Executive Branch of government is analyzed such men as Sherman Adams, Richard Nixon and James Hagerly played as significant roles as the President.

When Eisenhower was defeated the Republican Party was left without leadership although there were aspirants to leadership. Richard Nixon was entitled to be the titular head of the party but such distinction is nominal unless its claimant is a particularly strong personality. Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York claims leadership by virtue of his insistent public relations and his limitless treasury. Somehow he does not click.

Barry Goldwater asserts and maintains leadership because he represents ideas for which there is an increasing popularity in the country. That does not mean that Goldwater will be nominated in 1964. The influences that made Wendell Willkie a Republican candidate may be sufficiently strong to choose someone else. But the ideas of the Republican Party are liable to be better organized and clearer to understand. They will be Barry Goldwater's ideas, no matter who is nominated.

The Mature Parent
Permissiveness Has Become Plain Laziness

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
You like modern kids so much I wish you had mine. Tie this. Last fall I bought my 14-year-old girl a winter coat. She chose it. Nothing would do but that she should have an off-white, fuzzy number she found on a rack. I warned her that it would shed and soil easily. No, she had to have it. Now I'm told that she'll die before she wears it again next winter. As a kid myself, I wore a winter coat three years.

ANSWER: But your mother didn't just stand around while you chose one she knew wouldn't wear for three years.

Why did you permit this purchase?

Now I am going to tell you what I would do in your place. I would face my own irresponsibility in allowing my daughter to make a decision she hadn't the experience to make. I would accept the consequences of that irresponsibility.

Instead of trying to force her to wear this coat next winter, of fussing at her mistake choice, I would agree to buy her a new one—and this time claim the decision on its practicality.

We teach responsibility to children by demonstrating it.

Many of us don't. We let Johnny order a rich ice cream sundae—and then say "I told you so" when he gets sick in the bus going home. We let him evade his homework—and then blow up when he brings home a failing mark. We let a daughter buy a coat that we know is impractical—and then accuse her of extravagance when she comes around to agree with what we know.

What is it that irresponsibility in us that stands by when bad decisions are made—and then goes all virtuous and indignant when we are involved in the bad results?

"Permissiveness"—that starry-eyed doctrine of child training—has provided American parents with a lovely lazy holiday from responsibility. It's got us off the hook of caring about what happens, of the hard job of judging a child's capacities for ourselves, of incurring disagreeable resentments at a firm and lonely "No." It's time the vacation was over.

Because children can be given too many decisions. They can be allowed to make so many bad ones that they become afraid of decision. In adolescence and early adulthood, they can start running away from responsibility that has been made too punishing, too humiliating by over-responsible childhoods.

blame for our inhumanity to man on other shoulders than our own.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Naval officers still feel American space laurels belong to the Navy. Pointing out that the capsule of astronaut Gus Grissom, Air Force captain, sank, one Pentagon war cracked:

"It just goes to show that an Air Force pilot does wonderfully as long as he's in the air. But put him in a seagoing vessel, and he's got problems."

SEN. PAUL DOUGLAS (D-Ill.) has a bill in the hopper which will require all lenders and installment sellers to set forth true annual interest charges, which usually are not stated. The other day he got a telephone call about it:

"Hello, senator, this is Bernard Baruch. I'm all for that bill of yours. The public is being gouged on interest. I'm 50 years old. If I were a little younger, I'd come down there and help you fight for the bill."

SEN. RICHARD B. RUSSELL (D-Ga.) has been around Capitol Hill 28 years. Explaining the secret of his success to Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.), after Kuchel's re-election in 1956, Russell drawled:

"For the first four years you may be a statesman. The fifth year you have to be a little political, and in your sixth year you have to demagogue a little."

NOW A MANAGEMENT consultant for Sperry Rand, former Illinois congressman, Calvin D. Johnson, reminisced about the beginning of his political career. Recalling that he won his first election to the County Board of Education on a platform which called for the installation of modern rest rooms in his home town school, Johnson cracked: "I started my political career debating outhouses and I wound up in Congress. And to tell the truth, I still don't know if I moved up or down."

DURING CONGRESSIONAL debate of the housing program, Rep. William S. Moorhead (D-Pa.) voiced his support of the "open space" provisions by calling them "The Saving of the Green."

Explaining that he was of Irish background and naturally loved green, Moorhead pointed out that green was a withering color in our cities.

He was asked to yield by Rep. William B. Widnall (R-N. J.), who said:

"I would like to add that the taxpayers' green money is withering too, and has reached the point where the Treasurer of the United States was suggesting that we print it in red."

INTERIOR SECRETARY Stewart L. Udall is a highly touted speaker at Democratic functions. One of his favorite jokes concerns a book review he found written by a conservationist about "Lady Chatterley's Lover."

"This factual account of the day-to-day life of an English gamekeeper is still of considerable interest to outdoors-minded readers, as it contains many passages on raising pheasant, apprehension of poachers, vermin control, and other chores and duties of the professional gamekeeper."

"Unfortunately, one is obliged to wade through many passages of extraneous matter in order to discover and savor these side-lights on the management of a Midlands shooting estate."

"In this reviewer's opinion, the book will never take the place of

J. R. Miller's 'Practical Gamekeeping.'"

JOHN COSGROVE, National Press Club president, introduced Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman at a speech as a member of the "Orville Club."

Cosgrove added: "Its full name is SPPNSO — Society for the Prevention of Parents Naming Their Sons Orville."

"Other members are: Associate Justice William Orville Douglas; Orvil Dryfoos, publisher of the New York Times, and Orville Crouch, eastern representative of Loew's Inc."

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

By C. A. WINCHELL, Shokan, N. Y.

The people of Ulster County, of course, were greatly cheered by the early news dispatches from Gettysburg where two opposing armies of Americans had fought each other tooth and nail during that epochal struggle to the death. It now appeared that this signal victory, won after three days of desperate fighting, had effectively halted the Confederates' invasion of Pennsylvania and the enemy was in full retreat with their long wagon-trains of wounded, back down the route over which they had made such a valorous forced march with high hopes of success. Time and again, during that hell on earth that was Gettysburg, victory hung in the balance. A daring venture had failed but no one ever would say that these grey-clad men had not done their level best.

Here in Ulster, as in all sections of the North, folks were experiencing a season of relief, as well they might in view of the early successes of the enemy in Pennsylvania. The Secessionists were bent on going places and seeing things: Gordon and his six regiments of Georgians had penetrated to within 12 miles of Harrisburg, the state capital. General Jeb Stuart's cavalrymen were raising Cain farther west, seizing horses, cattle and about everything else they needed, including shoes for the infantry's weary feet. They tore up railroad tracks, burned bridges and were having them selves a field day generally.

Well, the Johnnies were, as General Gordon humorously put it when lecturing at Kingston 12 years ago, simply repaying the Yankees for a number of visits they had made to the Southland, and it was not from lack of courtesy that certain happenings at Gettysburg had forced them to curtail their return visits. Old Timer has never seen this thought in print but it will be that, Ulster County and the Mid-Hudson Valley was one of the interesting sections the Confederates planned to take in while up this way. Via the fertile Rondout Valley, perhaps, side trips, also, to West Point by way of Orange County, or on to Albany through neighboring Delaware County and up the Cherry Valley Turnpike. A big arsenal at Watervliet, 'tis said, and another at Springfield, Mass., too. Finally, in view of the great scarcity of shoe and saddle leather below the border, our horse-soldiers and infantrymen would sure like to see how they cure hides in those big tanneries which, our spies tell us, abound in the mountain townships of Greene and Ulster Counties.

Something else pertinent to the above travelogue, and which O. T. has never found in the history books, is the tradition up in the Ashokan Reservoir country (largely Hurley & Olive), that the Confederates had a military map which showed they really figured on crossing the Delaware and coming our way if the trip thus far proved a success. John Thompson, a young school teacher who had come over from England and settled along the upper Samsonville road near the foot of High Point, that towering southern rampart of the Catskills which overlooks the present east basin of the reservoir, saw the captured map, probably

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The following line "Back in the days of open cracker barrels in grocery stores, the purchaser could inspect the wares and often even sample them . . . the buyer cannot examine the contents now, and must depend on the truthfulness of the label." This came from a booklet called "Read the Label" published by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, covering foods, drugs, devices and cosmetics.

There are many comic sketches simplifying the information. One shows a detective, with a pipe in his mouth, and a magnifying glass helping him to read the label, under which it says: "It must be easy to read and understand under ordinary conditions of purchase and use. Flashlight and magnifying glass are not required shopping equipment." I wonder if they ever saw the tiny print used on some of the cello wrap foods I have seen, and the color of the print so beautifully blended with the color of the cello wrap that I do not think a search light and magnifying glass would help to find out the ingredients. What's in it? remains a mystery in many modern foods.

I read this booklet and remembered the storekeepers of years back, that would urge their customers, "taste this, it just came in . . ." Of course it sold the products, it also gave you an appetite. Remember the big wheels of cheese from which you could tell the grocer how big of a chunk you wanted. Remember when you could buy store cheese, American or Swiss, and you could have it sliced thin or thick. Remember the cream cheese that was cut to your needs, and sold to you on wax paper, red or white cream cheese.

Today everything is pre-packed and the storekeeper cannot help himself. He must sell it the way he receives it. The manufacturer is the boss. Remember sliced cold cuts, now most of them are pre-packed. Years back you could have them sliced to suit your fancy. Now you find them ready sliced and you take them that way. Now and then, you will find a place where they will slice them just for the customer. Chopped meat is ready prepared too, but there are still special stores that will let you pick out your meat cuts for chopping.

Years back, I remember Weber's Butcher Shop, Abel and Broadway, when the big sides of meat were before you, and Mr. Weber stood with a big knife to cut from what you wanted and would chop it for you. The ducks and chickens fresh from the farmer hung in his window for the holidays and you had a 'fresh killed chicken or duck.' I remember on the Strand, they had a fish market, in which they had a tank of water, and some people would only buy live fish which was killed and cleaned for them. It is difficult to believe that.

Reading this booklet brings to mind, how when they want to advertise a food item now and make it more desirable they use such terms as "old-fashioned flavor, fresh from the farm, fresh-cut, homemade, slow-cooking." They must have had memories of ham made the old-fashioned way, real home made salads, and pickles, and the type of stores, they show only in museums.

Remember when jelly even looked like jelly and you could guess what kind it was in cakes and pastry. Now its all one red color, I have never seen this color in a berry. Yet, you can still get, different flavors of pure jelly on the market, so why can't they be used in modern cakes, why must it always be that one strange red color.

So They Say..

Frankly, I would rather, not. I wouldn't enjoy seeing people in the state of mind that exists in America today. It would grieve me to see people so restless, so uneasy.

WALT DISNEY'S True Life Adventures

Nationalist Chinese Veep Coming to Talk About Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Chen Cheng of Nationalist China will open consultations with President Kennedy Monday on ways of dealing with the issue of Communist Chinese representation at the United Nations next fall.

Chen—highest ranking Nationalist Chinese official to visit the United States since World War II—due to drive directly to the White House following his arrival Monday morning from Williamsburg, Va.

The Chinese official, regarded as heir apparent to President Chiang Kai-shek will be accompanied by Shen Chang-huan, minister of Foreign Affairs and a party of 10.

State Department officials have virtually abandoned hope of using the moratorium device at the U. N. General Assembly this year to delay consideration of the seating of Communist China.

Instead, an effort may be made to postpone debate until the end of the fall session.

Another approach may be to declare the Chinese representation issue an important matter that would require a two-thirds vote for approval. U. S. officials believe the seating of Communist China could be blocked under the two-thirds rule.

In Chen Cheng's meetings with Kennedy on Monday and Tuesday the Chinese Nationalist views will be sought. Agreement on some procedure that would not involve having two Chinas in the United Nations will be adopted, informants said.

Some nations, including Britain, favor a separate U. N. seat for both Nationalist and Chinese Communist governments. This is referred to as the two-China solution.

In advance of Chen's arrival, the Senate Friday repeated its opposition to admission of Red China into the United Nations and to any U. S. diplomatic recognition of the Communist regime.

Suffern Derailed Spills Glycerin

SUFFERN, N.Y. (AP) — Eight cars of an Erie-Lackawanna freight train were derailed here early today, with a tank car spilling highly flammable glycerin over the tracks.

Police immediately cordoned off the area to guard against the possibility of fire.

A railroad spokesman said there were no injuries. He said a broken axle apparently caused the derailment of the approximately 100-car freight.

The overturned and scattered cars blocked off the main line both ways and the spokesman said through traffic probably would be shut off the remainder of the day.

The derailment occurred under an overpass of the State Thruway.

Charlie Chaplin And Wife Renew 'Memories'

JAKARTA (AP) — Comedian Charlie Chaplin, his wife, Oona, and a teen-age son and daughter arrived in Jakarta today to renew "old memories."

Chaplin said he remembers Indonesia as a "beautiful paradise." During a week-long visit he will travel to central Java and Bali. The Chaplins were met by the sultan of Jogjakarta.

One Hurt, Another Issued Summons In Chain Mishap

A teen-age passenger received a minor injury and an 18-year-old driver was issued a summons for following too closely in an accident involving four cars and two incidents on Route 209 in Wawarsing shortly before 9 p. m. Friday.

Robert Barnum, 16, of Kerhonkson, was admitted to Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, overnight for treatment of a laceration over the left eye-brow.

John G. Barnum, 18, Kerhonkson, was issued the summons which is pending before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel of Kerhonkson.

Cpl. Michael Bonney said the first accident, involving cars operated by Samuel Antess, 30, of the Bronx, and Gus Alexander, 68, of Kerhonkson, occurred at 8:55 p. m.

Antess stopped to make a left turn into a driveway and was struck in the rear by the Alexander car.

At 9:25 p. m. a car operated by Joseph Luis, 22, of Wurtsboro, slowed down at the scene of the first accident and was struck in the rear by the Barnum car.

Robert Barnum was a passenger in the car operated by John. Both vehicles were proceeding south at the time of the mishap.

Cardinal Canali Is Still Gravely Ill

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Nicola Cardinal Canali, head of Vatican City's administrative commission, gravely ill, survived the night under an oxygen tent, but doctors said there is little hope for his recovery.

The 87-year-old cardinal is suffering from bronchial pneumonia. His condition is complicated by a circulatory ailment.

Castro Would Give Back Airliner If Harris Stops Property Grab

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—This week's hijacking of an American airliner gave Fidel Castro a desperately needed weapon in his war with Erwin Harris.

In effect, the Cuban prime minister said in his 26th of July address that he would gladly give up the $3.5 million Eastern Air Lines jet if the Yankees would take Harris out of his whiskers.

Gets 10 Cuban Planes

He called attention to the seizure of 10 Cuban planes in the United States by Harris, a Miami advertising man. And he said if that business were stopped he would return the stolen airliner.

Harris has been grabbing and selling Cuban property to satisfy a debt the Castro regime won't pay.

Castro and his official newspaper Revolution have screamed that the persistent Harris is a Yankee fascist and imperialist. Harris says Castro is a deadbeat. "The difference between Castro and me," says Harris, "is that he seized American property illegally. I have attached Cuban stuff by due process of law, with court orders."

Legion Not Backing Walker, Advocates Fallout Shelters

Two Typhoons Churn Western Pacific Area

TOKYO (AP) — Two typhoons, powering center winds ranging from 85 to 90 miles an hour, today were slowly churning the western Pacific between the Daito Islands and Iwo Jima.

Japan's meteorological agency said they are still too far away to predict whether they will hit any inhabited islands.

Typhoon Helen, with 85 m.p.h. center winds, was spotted 230 miles southeast of Okinawa at 3 p. m. (Japanese time), moving north at 7 m.p.h. It is expected to skirt Okinawa.

Typhoon Ida, generating 90 m.p.h. winds, was located 105 miles east of Iwo Jima and moving northwest.

Cuba Accuses U. S. in Note Of Aggression

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Cuba accused the United States today of plotting imminent military aggression. The charge was made in a note to the United Nations.

The Foreign Ministry said in its note that the "imperialist government of the United States" plans to justify military aggression because of Cuba's failure to surrender a hijacked Eastern Air Lines plane.

The airliner was forced to land in Havana by a Cuban who held a pistol on the pilot of the Miami-Tampa flight.

The Cuban note said the airliner now is under a court embargo requested by "an interested party." It noted that in the past 10 months 10 Cuban planes have been seized in the United States and sold at auction.

The Foreign Ministry said the note was addressed to the president of the Security Council on instructions of President Osvaldo Dorticos and Prime Minister Fidel Castro. It said Cuba wished to call the council's attention to "the grave risk to international peace" provoked by "imminent military aggression" by the United States.

Tractors Swap Being Revived On Small Scale

WASHINGTON (AP) — The idea of swapping tractors for Cuban invasion prisoners apparently is being revived on a small scale.

L. B. Maloney Jr., an International Harvester Co. dealer in suburban Silver Spring, Md., said Friday he had made a tentative $30,000 sale of five farm tractors to two Cubans identified as Jose Manuel Reboso, 27, and Felipe de Diego, 33.

They said they were survivors of the unsuccessful April invasion of Cuba.

Maloney said the two told him they hope to ship the tractors to Havana to obtain the release of some of the sick or injured among the 1,200 rebels who were captured.

The men had cards identifying themselves as members of the Beachhead Brigade for Cuban Freedom, which they said is a group, trying to raise funds for another exchange attempt, according to Maloney.

State Department sources said they did not know anything about the two Cubans or the pending tractor transaction.

Campus Ready for Trees

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—One hundred holes have been dug on the University of Miami campus.

Now the university has announced it would accept donations of trees from citizens interested in helping the institution's campus beautification program.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The resolutions committee of the New York State Department, American Legion, decided today against a resolution supporting Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker, whose views on the controversial John Birch Society got him in trouble with the Army.

But the Legionnaires, ending their 43rd annual state convention here, adopted a resolution calling for construction of fallout shelters. About 4,000 members of the Legion and its auxiliary attended the convention.

Walker, a division commander in Germany, was relieved of his command and admonished after an investigation by the Defense Department. He had used literature provided by the right-wing John Birch Society to alert his troops to the danger of communist subversion in the United States.

The head of the resolutions committee, William A. Egan, said "We didn't know enough about what Gen. Walker was actually doing over there."

Egan said the proposed resolution "went all over the lot, and we didn't want to touch it. If we're going to take a pot shot, we're going to have a specific target."

He said the resolutions supporting Walker also criticized former President Eisenhower, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Chief Justice Earl Warren, and former President Truman.

The resolution advocating construction of fallout shelters was similar to one adopted by the Legion two years ago. It supports the plan for mandatory building of shelters that was first proposed by Gov. Rockefeller two years ago.

"Time has shown that it was a good idea," a resolutions committee member said. "President Kennedy just came out for it, too."

New Auxiliary Officers

Mrs. Michael F. Boland of Syracuse was elected president of the state American Legion Auxiliary for the coming year. Mrs. Boland, a vice president for the last three years, succeeds Mrs. Herbert Robbins of Brooklyn.

McKneally Hits Policy in Cuba And Geneva Talks

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A former national commander of the American Legion charged today that the United States is "a nation marked for decline."

Martin B. McKneally of Newburgh, addressing the closing session of the 43rd annual convention of the New York Department, American Legion, lashed out at American policy in Cuba, the nuclear disarmament talks at Geneva, and during the Korean War.

"We are admonished by the men in the highest seats of government that these are perilous times," McKneally said. "Will they get better by timidity and appeasement?"

McKneally, immediate past national commander, called the failure of the Cuban invasion "another Korea."

"Americans must shudder when they realize that the invasion of freedom fighters failed for the same reasons that Korea failed—lack of support."

"A nation that commits its youth to war, as in Korea, and then fails out of timidity to support them is a nation marked for decline."

Earlier, the resolutions committee of the state Legion decided against a resolution supporting Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker, whose views on the controversial John Birch Society got him in trouble with the Army.

A newsboy who delivers The Freeman, picked up an envelope containing $156 from in front of DeWitt Cadillac-Oldsmobile Inc., 250 Clinton Avenue Friday afternoon and turned it into the sales window.

He is John Tyler, 422 Washington Avenue, who, according to A. H. Chambers, who dropped the envelope, can expect a reward.

Chambers said he left his office back of the Cadillac-Oldsmobile building with a basket containing a large envelope and other papers. Inside the envelope were two smaller envelopes. The three envelopes, part of a payroll for employees on his farm at Maple Lane, Town of Ulster, contained $156.

He tossed the basket into the back seat of his car, which was parked on Clinton Avenue, and drove off.

He said the large envelope apparently slipped out of the open car window and fell to the pavement where young Tyler found it.

Tyler turned it in at the DeWitt sales window.

"I expect to reward him," Chambers said.

Sullivan Wants To Choose Songs, Cole Off Show

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Nat (King) Cole says he loves Ed Sullivan personally but can't get along with him professionally.

A publicity man sitting in on the interview interrupted:

"You don't mean that for publication, do you, Nat?"

"Why not," answered Cole. "I mean it."

He was explaining his recent appearance on the Jack Paar Show for the controversial $320 fee. But the Paar-Sullivan feud has nothing to do with his appraisal of Sullivan as an impresario.

"I used to be on the Sullivan show so much people thought I must have had something on the guy—but I had to quit," says Nat.

"Ed's too nostalgic. He wants to hear the same old songs. How many times can I sing 'Nature Boy' or 'Mona Lisa'? How many times must I identify myself?"

Sullivan is now in Europe. A spokesman said there would be no comment on Cole's remarks.

The professional blowup between Sullivan and the man that many consider America's greatest ballad singer came earlier this year.

"Ed heard me sing 'Stardust' at the inaugural gala. My contract called for an appearance on the Sullivan show a few weeks later."

"I picked out four songs, mostly new, one a particularly beautiful waltz called 'Illusion'."

"Come time for the show, one of Ed's producers called me to say that Ed didn't like the song. He wanted me to sing 'Stardust'."

"I said: 'Do you know that there have been 140 records made of 'Stardust'?"

"That made no difference. It was 'Stardust' or nothing. I told him that 'Illusion' was a new record of mine and I would like to use the show to plug it."

"I got the answer that the Sullivan show is not used for exploitation. I said what are those excerpts from movies and Broadway plays but exploitation? Or those rock 'n' roll kids who make one hit record?"

Nat was not on the show—although he was in New York sitting in his hotel room.

Then he returned to Las Vegas. "Jack Paar called me and asked me to be on his show. My answer was: 'Is tomorrow night soon enough?'"

On the show, Cole did not get into any personal beef with Sullivan.

"I just sang 'Illusion' and mentioned that it was the song Ed Sullivan didn't like."

Comedian's Club Burns in Jersey

EDISON TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — An explosion and fire destroyed actor-comedian Keefe Brasselle's Hollywood Club on Route 1 early today. Authorities termed the blast of suspicious origin.

The club, which featured live entertainment, was closed for the night and there were no patrons inside.

The club is owned by a corporation and police did not know how large an interest Brasselle had in it.

Critically burned in the fire was Joseph Famularo, 43, of Brooklyn, N.Y. He was taken to a hospital with first- and second-degree burns on 30 per cent of his body.

"How are Jim and Joe?" Famularo asked a hospital attendant which led police to believe that two men may have been trapped or injured in the fire.

Police at Keyport, notified Edison Township officials that a man with first- second- and third-degree burns on 90 per cent of his body was picked up in Keansburg and taken to a hospital in Red Bank in critical condition.

The man picked up in Keansburg—about 20 miles from here—was identified as Herbert Buckman, 42, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Closed Hearings Start in Bingo Probe at Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Closed hearings have been started here by the Moreland Act bingo inquiry commission, apparently to determine if the game is being controlled by underworld elements in Buffalo.

The hearings were begun unexpectedly Friday after commission agents had been investigating bingo in Western New York for about two weeks, according to Commissioner Thomas B. Gilchrist.

Commission members and witnesses who testified before the group declined to comment on the questioning.

More closed hearings probably will be held soon, and public hearings are scheduled in "perhaps a month or two," Gilchrist said. He said the public sessions might be held in other cities first, however.

Farm Income Is Better as Hogs, Eggs, Milk Are Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — A downward trend in farm product prices has been reversed by improving markets for hogs, eggs and milk. An Agriculture Department report Friday said the farm price level increased 1 per cent between mid-June and mid-July. It had been going down since March. In June the level was a month down from a year earlier, but now it is nearly one-half of 1 per cent above.

Price paid by farmers for goods and services used in production and family living, including interest, taxes and wage rates, held unchanged at nearly 1 per cent below the record high prevailing in May.

The month brought a 3 per cent increase in dairy prices, 10 per cent in eggs, nearly 1 per cent in meat animals and 3 per cent in feed grains. But broiler prices dropped to a record low of 12.6 cents a pound under the impact of continued heavy marketings. Turkey prices at an average of 19.5 cents a pound were the lowest for any month since July, 1942.

65-Ton Tug Sinks In State Barge Canal

TONAWANDA, N.Y. (AP) — Five sailors were rescued Friday night when their 65-ton tugboat sank in the State Barge Canal while they attempted to secure it to a barge. One crewman was treated at a hospital for minor bruises and was released.

Frank Miller, 57, of Buffalo, captain of the tug, said he had no idea why the tug sank.

The tug, the F.A. Chulchman of New York, was standing by a barge loaded with pig iron as crewmen attempted to fasten a line on it for a trip to Beacon.

The tug lurched and suddenly sank in 12 feet of water, leaving only a portion of its superstructure visible above the water.

A salvage company was attempting to raise the tug today.

50 Laundry Workers Join Drivers' Strike

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — Fifty laundry workers have joined 10 striking truck drivers at the main plant of the Finger Lakes Laundries and Quick Wash Stores, Inc. in a demand for higher wages and increased benefits.

The plant employees struck Friday, two days after the truck drivers had walked off the job.

Representatives of Teamsters Local 506 and company officials are scheduled to meet Monday with a state mediator in an effort to settle the dispute over higher wages, an increase in the

Head-on Crash Takes Four Lives, Two in Hospital

REDHOUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A two-car, head-on crash took four lives Friday afternoon on Route 17, less than a mile east of this Cattaraugus County community.

The dead were Mrs. George Miller, 68, of Orchard Park; Lawrence Fox, 76, of Boston, N.Y.; Mrs. Rose Fox, 70, his wife, same address, and Miss Audrey Dietl, 37, Mrs. Fox's daughter, same address.

Two other persons were in serious condition in Salamanca District Hospital. They were George W. Miller, 67, the husband of Mrs. Miller, and the driver of one car, Mrs. Evelyn Root Cole, 52, of Pierce Run Rd., Onondale, the driver of the other car.

Cattaraugus County sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Cole was traveling West alone in her car. The victims were all in Miller's east-bound car, enroute to an outing at nearby Allegany.

The accident occurred on a straight section of the two-lane highway, police said. Other details were not certain because those involved were killed or too seriously injured to relate the circumstances, police said. There apparently were no other witnesses.

Gets Up to Three Years for Death Of Boy by Auto

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Thomas M. Alverson, 35, a former researcher for the State Education Department, has been sentenced to serve 1½ to 3 years in prison for killing a boy with his automobile.

Alverson, who holds a doctor of education degree, pleaded guilty to a charge of criminal negligence. He said he suffered a blackout when his car struck Harold Bastiani, 15, of Guilford Center, on Route 20 May 13.

Fe said he had undergone several operations and was taking medicine to alleviate the pain. Police said he attempted to commit suicide after he was indicted.

County Judge Martin Schenck sentenced Alverson to Clinton Prison Friday.

Quaker Group to Stress Treaty With Senecas

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Treaty of 1794 Committee will maintain a three-week vigil to remind the U. S. Government of a promise it made to the Seneca Nation in the early days of the Republic.

The committee, basically Quaker, said it will sponsor a vigil from Aug. 12 through Labor Day at Warren, Pa., to remind the government that the treaty stipulated the Senecas' land never would be claimed or disturbed. The proposed Kinzua dam would flood most of the usable section of the Allegheny Reservation. Instead, the Conewango-Cattaraugus site in New York State should be studied, the committee said.

Dies After Accident

PORT JERVIS, N.Y. (AP) — Russel Corwin, 42, of Matamoras, Pa., died in a hospital here Friday shortly after a two-car accident in the nearby Township of Deerpark.

The driver of the second car, Peter Heecher, 26, of Port Jervis, was reported in good condition in a hospital here.

For Boys Only: If You're Heading for a Date, Keep This Check List by Your Side

So you have been invited to a party and there will be dancing!

Instead of quivering in your shoes, heed some of these rules and you may make it such a pleasant event that your partner will forget you aren't the best dancer in the crowd but think of you as one of the nicest.

• First of all if you're doing the inviting, ask far enough in advance to let the girl make plans for her dress.

• As far as your clothes are concerned, dress according to the type of dance you are attending.

• Don't forget your basic grooming. Bathe or shower and don't forget your ears.

• Nails should be clean and trimmed. No dirt or grease behind them. Working on your hot rod is no excuse.

• Be sure to use a deodorant. Somehow boys seem to think deodorants are for sissies. They're not.

• Don't forget to use your toothbrush and a mouth wash. There is no excuse for dirty teeth and bad breath.

• Your hair should be clean. Greasy hair is just as unpleasant as dirty hair.

• Polish your shoes. Even a new pair of shoes can look neglected if they are dirty and an old pair can look like new just by giving them a good polish.

• Always dance the first dance with your partner and don't yank her by the arm, but ask politely, "May I have this dance?" or "Will you dance with me?" After you have finished the dance be sure to thank her.

• If you are introduced to an older person, be sure to stand.

• Never leave your partner unattended during a dance to dance with someone else.

• When you sit, do not slouch or sprawl your legs.

• Never criticize your date's dancing no matter how bad it is. Even though she may step on your toes, you are the one who should say "Excuse me" or "Pardon me."

• No horse play, running or sliding. You're not a baby, so act like a man.

• Be sure to have the last dance with your date. Be attentive and considerate.

• Thank your hostess or chaperone before you leave.

You will get a reputation for being a polite and considerate date, and even if you aren't the best dancer or the best looking, you won't have trouble getting a date. A girl will overlook a poor dancer or a plain face if you are considerate. In fact she will offer to teach you how to dance better. And this just because you are—well nice. So don't be a square—be a date of which a girl is proud.

—Mary Simpson

Poems For Summer

Blackbird on the Lawn

By Kay Cammer

Blackbird scurrying all about,
You've eaten all my seeds—
no doubt.

You didn't like the crumbs
of bread,
So you feasted on my lawn
instead.

I didn't see any grass last spring,
It's all inside of you, small thing.

Insect Parade

By Ethel Jacobson

Do you see spots before your eyes
Of every color, shape and size,

Crawling over or in the ground,
Walking on water, flying around?

Do you hear buzzings, rasp-
ings, hummings
Like a doll-sized orchestra's strumminas?

Then look close, for you may see
A fascinating creature—me,
Or one of the hundred million dozens

Of my clever six-legged cousins.
A mighty teeming cavalcade,
We are the insects on Parade!

I Have a Smile

By Frances Gorman Risser

Sometimes I do not have two cents
That I can rub together.

But I do have a smile to wear
In bright or gloomy weather.

I have a twinkle and a grin,
And words, both kind and funny—

To me it seems these cheerful things
Are worth their weight in money!

Know Lots About Indians? Try Some Indian Words On Mother at Dinnertime

Many people think that the

Cheyenne, Sioux, Arapahoe,

Black Foot and Comanches.
They alone have 350 languages.

How, then, did those of one language carry on a conversation with those of another?
Iron Eyes Cody revealed that they used an universal language of gestures.

The California Indians
were called mission Indians because their names were similar to the missions they were near. For example, those near San Gabriel Mission were called Gabrielanos, San Fernando, Fernandanos and San Diego, Diganos. They had ten languages. Some tribes lived just 10 or 15 miles apart, but they couldn't talk to each other.

Indians convey ideas in ways other than in words. The patterns on their baskets, blankets, pottery and other items tell something.

Today, Indians on the reservations still have their ritual dances. Each dance carries a message.

Iron Eyes Cody said: "The young Indian man has a vision and paints his face accordingly. The different colors symbolize different things: Green is good, red is war, yellow is sun and blue is for the clouds and the Great Spirit."

"After a young man has his vision, he fasts and thinks.
Then he takes a sweat bath
to purify himself and dances.
Then he is a man."

The Music Plays By Ethel Jacobson

When the music plays
I love to dance.
I whirl and twirl
And tap and prance,
And clap my hands
To the big drum's beat,
Then stand on my head
And wave my feet!

Rosendale-Tillson C of C Rally Event Termed Successful

The first annual week-long Rosendale rally, sponsored by Rosendale Chamber of Commerce, was considered an overwhelming success by the members of the Chamber of Commerce.

About 1,000 persons attended the Donkey Baseball Game, between Bloomington and Rosendale Fire Departments at Sportsmen's Park. The firemen's carnival at Cottekill was reported to be highly successful.

Over 100 persons, filling two buses, attended the tour of the Rosendale cement quarries and mushroom sheds. Century Cement Manufacturing Company of Rosendale, exhibited the methods of original cement manufacturing. In the 19th century, and showed an active comparison with its present, new, totally electric cement plant.

The rally commenced with a card party and a roast beef supper earlier in the week.

Barbara Ann Williams, Miss Rosendale, was presented in the parade that toured the entire township, in which three fire companies were represented. Miss Rosendale was presented at the Block Dance last Thursday, which was attended by approximately 1,000 people. A 13-piece orchestra, led by Harry Maisenhelder, under the auspices of Local 215, American Federation of Musicians, provided the music.

The regular weekly teen-age dance usually held at Tillson School, was held outdoors. It was largely attended.

One of the outstanding successes of the rally events was the Antique and Art Show, held last Saturday and sponsored by Rosendale Library Association.

Cobleskill Fair Premiums, $20,000

COBLESKILL—Competitors in the various exhibit classes at the annual Cobleskill Sunshine Fair, which opens here Wednesday, Aug. 23, will be vying for nearly $20,000 in premiums, according to T. Paul Kane, president, and Dr. D. W. Beard, secretary of the fair association.

Premium books for the 85th annual exhibition of the Cobleskill Agricultural Society have been mailed throughout the county to prospective exhibitors and others are available at fair headquarters today.

Dr. Beard said today that an unusually large number of requests for premium books have been received. He said that an indication, he said, this heavy demand for premium books means an increased number of exhibitors and articles entered in the competition for prizes.

Kane announced that the admission policy which has prevailed the past several years—free admission to the grandstand except Saturday afternoon—will be in force again this year. There will be a seating charge for use of boxes at the night musical shows.

SHORT, TIGHT SKIRTS

Q—Will you please print something in your column for the benefit of the young women who like to wear short, tight skirts. They should pay more attention to the way they sit in busses and subway trains. It is very embarrassing to others to see a woman with her skirt way up above her knees, and some even go so far as to cross their knees. I have often been tempted to go over to one sitting in the immodest fashion and ask her to pull her skirt down.

A—Further than quoting this letter, I should like to add a reminder that knee length skirts that are narrow look receptively proper from the wearer's angle of sight. Therefore, everyone who wears such clothes should practice sitting down in front of a mirror.

Slacks for Traveling

Q—I plan to go to the Coast by bus and I am wondering if it would be proper to wear slacks for traveling. I will be on the bus several days and think that slacks will not only be much more comfortable but will wrinkle far less than a dress. Will you please give me your opinion on such dress for traveling?

A—Slacks, even on the very young and slim, are not proper for traveling and with the many new crease resistant materials on the market today you should have no trouble in finding a suit or dress suitable for traveling.

In Place of Flowers

Q—When the family of the deceased requests that flowers be omitted, in what way can friends show their sympathy beyond merely expressing it verbally or by note?

A—In lieu of funeral flowers, Catholics often send spiritual bouquets or have a mass said for the deceased. Also many people make a donation in memory of the deceased, especially if there was a charity or cause in which he (or she) was personally interested.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Home Extension Service News

Now management is discussed in this article by Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent of the Ulster County Extension Service Association.

What is home management? This is a question which homemakers frequently ask. Many people think of it as budgeting or family spending, housekeeping, home furnishings or meal planning. This is the narrow meaning of management, although certainly these activities require management and contribute much to family well-being.

The broader meaning of home management goes much farther. It centers attention on family life as a whole, on the goals of the family, and the ways in which decision-making in the home can help reach these goals.

Very simply defined, home management is the way a family uses what it has to get what it needs, wants, and desires both for the family as a group, and for the individuals within the family. It is a way families try to accomplish the things that are most important in living together.

Applying this meaning of management to homemaking is a tremendous challenge to every family, but particularly to the homemaker. Being a manager—a joint manager with her husband—of the home and of the development of the family offers both opportunities and challenges.

THE NEED FOR MANAGEMENT—In this day and age, home-making decisions are increasing in number. With more money outlay involved, the modern family cannot afford to decide things in a haphazard way. Nor can a family always follow the customary patterns or do things "the way Mother did." Decisions need to be based on the family's situation—on what it has to use and what it

ROLLER SKATE

Bob Nadler's, Colonie Capture Legion Tourney Contests

Highland Wins District LL Title; Glasco-East Kingston Bows

Clubs to Play Tonight For District Title

It will be Bob Nadler's of Kingston against Colonie of the Albany district in the finals of the District American Legion tournament at Dietz Stadium tonight. Game time is 8:30 p. m. and from the results of last night's semi-final competition, a good game will be played.

The Kingston nine completely overwhelmed a weak Melvin Roads club of Rensselaer, 16-0, and Colonie staged a late rally to turn back upset minded Schoharie, 6-3.

While Lonnie McAndrew hurled a neat two-hitter for the Bob Nadler boys, his mates pounded out 13 safeties and scored 15 runs in the last two innings. The game was mercifully halted after the fifth frame and it was just as well. Kingston might have batted all evening.

Rick Broberg and Paul Natale had triples for the winners while McAndrew and Ronnie Secreto rapped doubles. Mike Ferraro, Richie Siskler, Broberg and Natale all had two hits each and the others in the lineup hit at least once.

Natale also made the defensive gem of the evening. He caught a line drive in the left center gap. It would have been a double or triple but Paul backhanded the ball on the run.

Colonie trailed, 3-2, starting the sixth frame but then pushed four runs across the dish to come out on top. The losers didn't go down without a struggle. They loaded the bases in the seventh before the final out was made.

The winners had six safeties with Miner rapping a triple to show the way.

Brown Whitewashes Yankees; Reds, Dodgers Still Close

Allows Six Hits In 4-0 Triumph; Tigers Bow, 4-3

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Although Slinny Brown shut out New York 4-0 for the onrushing Baltimore Orioles Friday night, the Yankees maintained their one-game American League lead when Minnesota beat Detroit 4-3 on a pair of two-run homers by Bob Allison.

Brown held the Yanks to six singles. It was the Yanks' third shutout of the year.

Although the Orioles are in third place, 9½ games behind New York, Paul Richards' men think they are making a serious move. Baltimore has won five straight, snapping a four-game Yank streak with the kind of pitching it was supposed to have. Proving that those who live by the sword also die by the sword, the Orioles turned to home runs by Gus Triandos and Jackie Brandt to beat Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris and co.

Rookie Don Schwall won his 11th for Boston in a little over two months when the Red Sox snapped a four-game losing slump and extended Chicago's to five with an 8-3 victory. As a reward for this hot streak, Schwall has been named to the All-Star squad for Monday's game at Fenway Park.

Marty Keough and rookie Bud Zippel led a 13-hit Washington attack in a 10-6 decision over Kansas City.

Los Angeles knocked out Barry Latman in a four-run sixth inning enroute to an 8-5 victory over Cleveland with some fine relief pitching by Art Fowler.

The boxscores:

Daley Routed
AB	R	H
Triandos made Brown's task easy when he hit a three-run homer off Bud Daley in the first inning. Brandt's came with nobody on in the eighth. Mantle had three of the Yanks' six singles.
Brown started his string by shutting out Kansas City July 7 and worked three scoreless relief innings against Detroit July 19 and two more against Chicago July 23.

Allison was the whole show at Detroit with No. 21 off Paul Foytack in the first and No. 22 also off loser Foytack in the ninth. Each came with a man on base. Billy Bruton homered for the Tigers off winner Pedro Ramos and pinch hitter Charlie Maxwell hit a homer off the Cuban in the ninth.

Boston backed up Schwall with a 12-hit attack that included three hits by Pete Runnels, Gary Geiger and Chuck Schilling.

Geneva Shakes Slump To Beat Auburn, 14-6

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Geneva shook loose from its recent slump to wallop Auburn Friday night, 14-6, and pick up a game on second-place Erie.

The Redies got an assist from Scooter James of Wellsville, who homered in the top of the 10th to beat Erie, 6-5.

In other games, Jamestown edged Elmira in 10 innings at Jamestown, 3-2, and Olean downed Batavia at Olean, 7-3.

Greg Nash and Tony Perez of Geneva planted back-to-back homers over the fence in the first inning against Auburn, both hitting the first pitch served to them. Perez got his 20th round-tripper of the season in the second inning.

Jamestown's winning run came when 10th against Elmira came when Chico Martinez hit a sacrifice fly to left, scoring Don Hughes.

THE RAINS CAME — Umbrellas blossom out as rain pelts golfers during the second round of the PGA golf tournament in Olympia Fields, Ill. First round leader Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., is shown putting on the eighth green. Wall clung to his lead with 137 at the halfway mark in the tourney but his par-matching 70 was in danger of being washed out by the downpour. Play was suspended shortly after Wall finished with about one-third of the 166-player field home. (AP Wirephoto)

NL Contenders Score Victories; Podres Gets 13th

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Robinson continued to put on a one-man show for Cincinnati, driving in three runs with his 31st and 32nd home runs Friday as the Reds maintained their one-game lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Johnny Podres boosted his season record to 13-2, tops in the league in percentage, by beating Pittsburgh 6-4. Podres needed ninth-inning help from Dick Farrell.

It was the Dodgers' sixth straight on their Eastern tour and Podres' fifth victory in a row as they continued to apply pressure to the Reds.

Frank Robinson hit home runs No. 31 and No. 32 and drove in three Cincinnati runs in a 4-3 triumph over the Chicago Cubs. Wally Post's homer accounted for the other run in Jim O'Toole's 10th victory at the expense of Dick Ellsworth.

Larry Jackson pitched St. Louis to a 6-2 decision over Milwaukee with the help of light-hitting Bob Lillis.

San Francisco scored five in the seventh inning to beat Philadelphia in the first game 8-5, but the Phils won the second 4-3 on Bob Mankins' seventh-inning homer.

Podres gave up only one hit in the first six innings and didn't allow a Pirate to reach second until Dick Stuart hit his 15th homer in the seventh with a man on base. Duke Snider and Willie Davis hit consecutive homers off relief man Roy Face in the ninth, long after loser Earl Francis had departed.

Robinson provided the muscle for the Reds. When O'Toole ran into trouble in the ninth, Bill Henry bailed him out after Jim Brosnan failed. Henry took over with men on first and third and one out. He struck out Ed Bouchee and made pinch hitter Sam Taylor foul out.

Lillis drove in three runs with a pair of singles while Jackson won his sixth over rookie Bob Hendley.

Dom Zanni grabbed his first major league victory on relief in the Giants' first game at Philadelphia. Mankins' homer enabled Johnny Buzhardt to win his third for the Phils with a five-hitter in the second game.

10-run Surge In 5th Frame Tops RV, 10-1

Erupting for 10 runs in the fifth inning after being held to a scoreless tie until that time, Highland won the finals of the District 16 Little League championship with a 10-1 triumph over Rondout Valley last evening at the Kingston National Little League diamond.

The Southern Ulster boys will play Poughkeepsie at Spratt Park at 3 o'clock this afternoon in a bi-district tilt with the winner facing Hudson on Monday.

Lefty Greg Cappy pitched the distance for Highland and he sparked with a three-hit performance. Cappy issued only one walk and struck out 13 batters.

The winners socked 13 safeties with Cappy netting a double and singles and Constance Yantz slugging a home run during the big uprising. Tom Tegler and Ed Garland doubled for Rondout.

PGA 2nd Round Rained Out; Palmer's Chances Brightened

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—Weather permitting, the PGA championship tries again to get through its second round today but under a new, rain-dictated format that figures to favor golf's golden boy, Arnold Palmer.

The luck of the elements was first against, then with Palmer Friday, when a cloudburst halted the second round. Before then it looked as if lanky Art Wall had shaken off all but two or three contenders after recording a sizzling 36-hole total of 137. For 35-35-70 at the 6,722-yard Olympia Fields Country Club.

Wall, the first round leader with a 67, had already posted a second-round 70 when the skies broke loose and forced a suspension of play at 1:20 p.m. Finally, at 2:45 when the torrents of rain had turned Olympia Fields into a series of puddles, PGA officials decided to cancel play for the day. All second-round scores were washed away—cancelling in addition to Wall's 70, a fine 68 by young Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., and a 71 by a former champion, Doug Ford of Yonkers, N.Y.

Those rounds had left Wall at 137, Pott at 139 and Ford at 140. No one else was close. The other players of the field of 166 were fortunate enough to get in before the heavy rains descended.

The luck for Palmer, who had said earlier, "I'd be lucky to shoot a 75 if play resumed," began when the round was washed away. Palmer, scheduled to tee off at 1:55 with Gary Player and Don January, would have had to whack away under miserable conditions.

Without question, it would have taken a Herculean round for any of the first day trailers—including Palmer, who had a first round 73—to stay anywhere near the pace set by Wall.

36 Holes on Sunday
The next break came when PGA President Lou Strong announced that instead of setting the tournament back a day, the final 36 holes would be played on Sunday. The double-round finish, first for the PGA since it was shifted from match play to a 72-hole medal play event in 1958, definitely favors the younger, stronger golfers like Palmer.

Under the new setup dictated by the postponement, the field was to be cut to the low 60 scorers and ties after the second round. The normal PGA format is four daily rounds of 18 holes each, Thursday through Sunday, with the field cut to the low 90 and ties after two rounds and the low 60 and ties after three.

So Wall, who shrugged off the loss of a distinct advantage with a terse, "Well, that's too bad, but that's how it goes sometimes," goes off again today with a one-stroke lead over defending champion Jay Hebert and Ernie Voseler, who opened Thursday with 68's. Two strokes behind are Jerry Barber, Ford and Bill Heinlein, and three back are Don Fairfield, Doug Sanders, Buster Cupit, Jack Fleck, Bob Rosburg, Shelley Mayfield and Paul Harney.

Races Are Carded At Onteora Track Sunday, 2:30 P.M.

Three 10-lap events, a consolation and a 25-lap feature will be on the card Sunday at Onteora Speedway. The first race is scheduled at 2:30 p. m. and Ernie Beesmer will be the favorite of the crowd as he tries to nail down a second straight feature triumph.

Many other top drivers will be on hand, including D. D. (Rebel) Harris, a six-time winner this season. Others expected to compete are Walt Schubert, Jim Markle, Don Avery, and Stretch VanSteenburgh.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The continued warm spell that has wilted New York State residents for the past week doesn't seem to have affected their four-footed friends at the harness tracks.

Can't Blame Ulcers

VIENNA (AP)—Stomach ulcers are no grounds for divorce, an Austrian judge has ruled in rejecting a vicil servant's claim his wife's nagging made his ulcers hurt.

The judge noted the man had been married 20 years and had not complained about his wife's conduct until recently.

Griffith, Bahama To Fight Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—World welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York hopes to use Yama Bahama as a stepping stone toward a shot at the middleweight crown when they tangle in a non-title nationally televised (ABC 9 p.m. EST) 10-rounder topping a Madison Square Garden boxing show tonight.
Bahama is a legitimate mid-dleweight, although he will have to come in at 155 or less tonight under the terms agreed upon. Griffith, who was down to 145 a couple of days ago, hopes to come in around 148.

Saratoga Gets More Horses; Ready to Open

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—More than 850 thoroughbreds were on hand today as the tempo picked up for Monday's scheduled opening of the 93rd meeting of historic Saratoga Race Track.

Entries close today for the opening feature, the Flash Stakes for 2-year-olds.

A guarded convoy of about 45 vans with more than 350 horses arrived during the night from Belmont without incident.

In the shipment was Leonard P. Sasso's Globemaster, winner of the Arlington Classic and the Saranac Handicap. The 3-year-old may be a starter in the Travers Stakes Aug. 12, a $75,000-added highlight of the 24-day season.

Although Teamster Union threatened to move pickets from Aqueduct, where stablehands are on strike, to Saratoga, none had appeared. Aqueduct closes today. The Teamsters Union, seeking to represent stablehands, has refused to cross picket lines at the New York City track but several union drivers who said they were union members crossed the lines.

Other unions have honored picket lines in New York City but a spokesman for the Bartenders and Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union local here said members could work at Saratoga's restaurants and bars even if pickets appeared.

Seventeen stake races with a total of $325,000 in added money are scheduled, including the Hopeful Aug. 26, another $75,000-added race.

The Alabama, a $30,000-added event Aug. 5 should prove a major race, with such horses eligible as Brookmeade Stable's Bowl of Flowers, Darby Dan Farm's Primonetta and Ogden Phipps' Funloving.

More than 20 Northeastern PGA professionals and their women partners are expected to compete in the annual Northeastern Pro-Lady championships Monday at Wiltwyck Country Club.

Demeter Leads Toronto Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wielding his home run bat, Steve Demeter led his Toronto teammates to another victory in the International League Friday night.

Demeter, who leads the league in four-base blasts, hit his 23rd, a. g. with two other hits, for three runs-batted-in, as the Maple Leafs swamped Richmond, 10-5. Tom Sturdivant hung up his fifth victory as first place Columbus edged Buffalo, 2-1 in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was rained out after 3 1/2 innings with the Jets on top, 5-1.

Carleton Biedert Syracuse 15-2 in the second game of a twin bill after Syracuse had won the opener 4-2. Rochester registered a 3-1 victory over Jersey City.

Sweetman Wins Lefty Golf Title

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Ed Sweetman preserved his lead in the stretch run and the Greensboro collegian won his second National Association of Left-handed Golfers Amateur Championship in three years.

Ed's final round was his poorest of the 72-hole tournament, a four over par 75, but it was enough to give the husky 24-year-old student at nearby Guilford College a 233 total and a one-shot edge over Gene Ferrell of Mobile, Ala.

There was another seven-stroke gap to third place, taken by Jack Odd of Winston-Salem, N. C. whose 78 gave him 301.
Fourth place went to Stewart Chancellor of Midland, Tex., at 302. Jack Walters the defending champ from Tacoma, was far back at 318.

Federal Court Judge Denies NFL Delay on His TV Ruling

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that the National Football League cannot have a contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System. But a league spokesman says road games will be televised this fall as before.

Judge Allan K. Grim held Friday to his 1963 ruling that the NFL's $9.3-million two-year contract with CBS violates federal antitrust laws.

The ruling followed two days of testimony in which NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said that unless the package deal was approved, half of the league's 14 teams would be without TV in 1962—"an economic disaster for the league."

NFL clubs will have to negotiate individually for TV contracts unless Grim's denial is upset by a higher court.

Rozelle declined to comment until he has a chance to study the decision.

Another NFL spokesman said league games would be televised the same way they were last season. Ten games were on CBS, two on the National Broadcasting Co network, and one on an independent sports network last season.

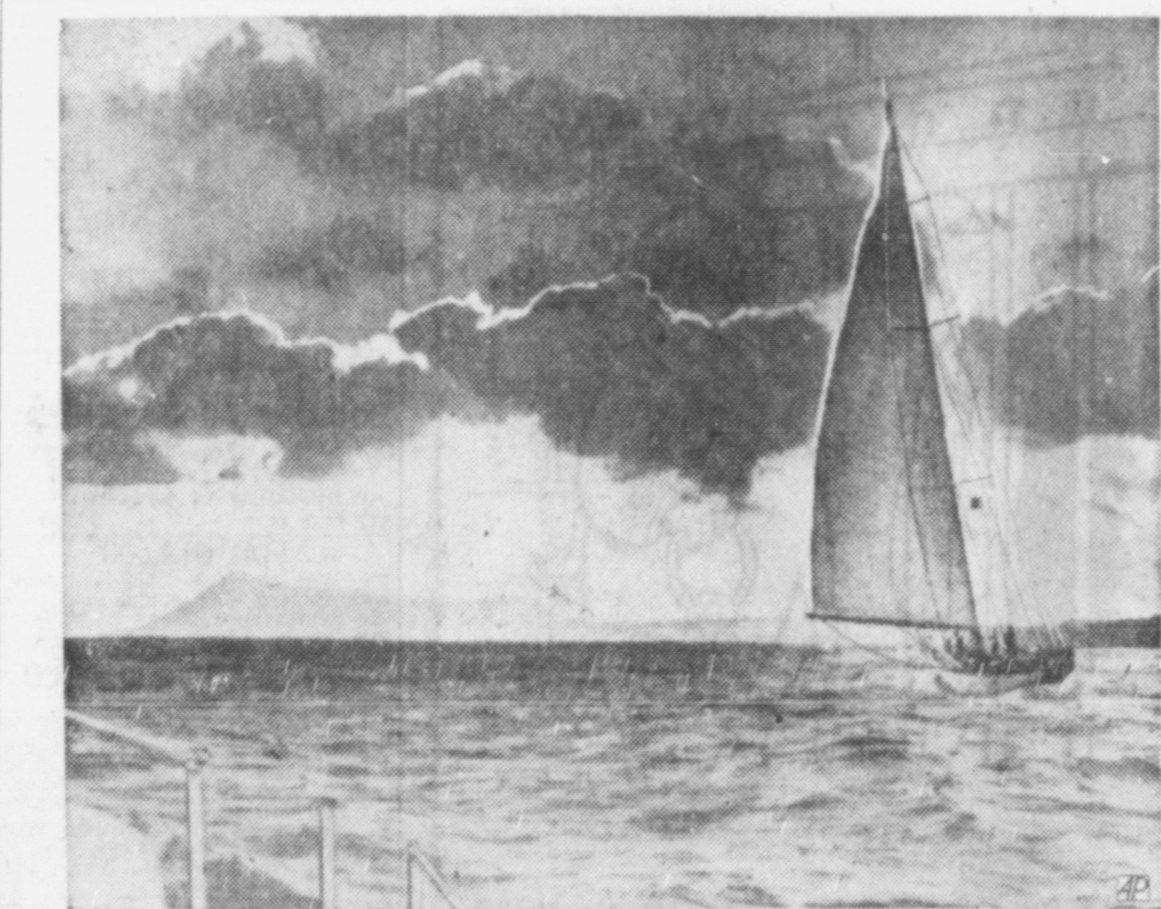

Springfield Gets Easy 10-5 Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A grand slam homer by Carl Boles and two other homers by Springfield batters gave the team, tops in the Eastern League, an easy 10-5 victory Friday night over the Lancaster Roses.

In other EL games, Williamsport took a double header by Reading 3-2 and 5-3, and Binghamton beat Johnstown 7-4.

Binghamton catcher Al Hall lashed a three-run homer to give the Trips a 6-0 lead over Johnstown. The Red Sox made an unsuccessful bid at winning the game in the fourth, when, with one run in, they had bases loaded and only one out. But winner Larry Del Margo (6-9) struck out one batter and another hit into a force play.

Mickey Cohen Is In Alcatraz on 15 Year Tax Rap

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Hands manacled and chained to guards, Meyer Harris Cohen, 47, better known as Mickey, stepped aboard a motor launch Friday, his belongings in two brown paper bags.

Then Mickey Cohen was taken to "The Rock" in San Francisco Bay—Alcatraz Prison.

Cohen went to the federal prison to serve a 15-year term for income tax evasion. He was carrying a book about Arnold Rothstein, a New York gambler who was slain in the thirties. The book's title: "The Big Bankroll."

East Germans Told To Make Up Minds

BERLIN (AP)—Red-ruled East Germany today warned citizens that they will "get themselves into trouble" unless they make up their minds which side they are on.

The warning was directed specifically at the estimated 80,000 East Germans who still hold jobs in West Berlin.

Neues Deutschland, the official Communist daily, acknowledged that there is an advantage in such jobs—better money. It went on:

"But the time has come when this can not go on any longer. People who do not know what side they belong on today, will get themselves into trouble."

France Is Alone In Its Crisis On North Africa

By GODFREY ANDERSON

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's France stood increasingly alone today with her long-time North African problems apparently in worse shape than before.

Talks aimed at bringing peace to troubled Algeria, where she has been at war with nationalist rebels for nearly seven years, broke down again over the issue of who should control the oil-rich Sahara—France or an independent Algeria. There was no indication when the talks would be resumed.

Still Hold City
Further east, in Tunisia, French paratroopers still held the city of Bizerte against bitter Tunisian opposition.

Across the ocean, the U. N. Security Council was discussing possible further action. France had ignored the council's earlier demand that French troops be pulled back to their original positions inside the base.

The De Gaulle government's attitude is that the Bizerte affair concerns France and Tunisia alone and only they can settle it. The French see Tunisia's new appeal to the Security Council as an attempt to internationalize what they regard as a purely bilateral affair.

Although suspension of the Algerian peace talks at Lugin, near Lake Geneva, is officially described as only temporary, it has some of the look of a more lasting break.

Recognition Unlikely
France is unlikely to come around to recognizing Algerian sovereignty over the Sahara. The Algerians say they won't talk peace again until France does.

The one bright gleam in a gloomy picture was that both sides agreed some kind of contacts would be maintained.

Thomas Jefferson attained the presidency by a one vote majority in the electoral college.

Three Saugerties Fire Companies Battle Barn Fire

Some 75 to 100 volunteers from three fire companies spent five hours early this morning battling two fires in the Town of Saugerties—one of which destroyed a large barn containing 2,000 bales of hay, the other one causing minor damage to the upholstery of a car owned by one of the firemen.

A one-and-a-half-story frame barn, approximately 100 feet long by 100 wide, owned by a man identified as Gallagher, was described by Chief John C. Paige of the Centerville Fire Department (Centerville and Cedar Grove Companies) as a total loss.

The barn, located on Route 32 near its junction with the Katonah Road, contained 2,000 bales of hay which had been stored there by Fred Mower of Katonah.

Chief Paige said the fire may have resulted from spontaneous combustion. He estimated the loss very roughly at about $5,000.

The fire was a hot one, with flames visible for quite a distance, the chief said.

He said the firemen finally brought the smoldering mass of hay under control when one of the firemen produced a bulldozer and leveled the burning mass. He was Capt. Percy Mower of the Cedar Grove Company.

The alarm came at 3:45 a. m. with the Centerville and Cedar Grove fire companies and the Saugerties Company responding.

Paige said the structure was "completely involved in flames" when firemen reached the scene.

About 4:15 a. m., while fighting the barn fire, the siren at the firehouse a mile and a half away was sounded again and a truck was returned to the scene of a second fire—a car owned by one of the firemen, Robert Mower, parked at the Cedar Grove firehouse.

The fire started in the back seat of the car but was quenched before it had caused extensive damage.

Chief Paige said that someone near the firehouse turned in the alarm. Firemen at the scene of the barn fire heard the siren very clearly.

Paige said the blaze was extinguished with a booster line. Firemen returned to their respective stations about 8:45 a. m., five hours after they were first called out.

Britain Studies Common Market Tie As Trade Aid

By TOM OCHILTREE

GENEVA (AP)—Britain has taken the first step toward membership in the prospering Common Market by winning the approval of her partners in the rival European Free Trade Association.

Diplomats reported that ministers of the EFTA nations are sympathetic to the view that Britain's troubled economy can be cured if she links up with the potential 200-million customers of the Common Market.

Will Seek Alignment
Britain told the EFTA Friday she would seek alignment with the Common Market, presumably under terms that would not harm the economies of Commonwealth countries and EFTA members.

The other EFTA members—Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Austria, Switzerland, Portugal, and associate member Finland—approved the move in principle.

Edward Heath, No. 2 man in Britain's Foreign Office, outlined the British stand to delegates at a meeting here. They drafted a statement to be issued Monday, when Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will formally announce his government's decision to the House of Commons.

The Common Market members are France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. They are working toward free trade among themselves and a common tariff barrier against the rest of the world.

Though many Britons feel the nation needs Common Market customers to reverse Britain's unfavorable trade balance, Macmillan faces many potential blocks on the issue.

Oppose Joining
Elements in his own Conservative party oppose joining the market if it means surrender of any British sovereignty.

The Commonwealth countries are opposed if it means losing their special trade privileges with Britain.

Moreover, French President Charles de Gaulle is not eager to see the British join. Some feel he views the Common Market as a means to unify continental Europe under French leadership and is reluctant to share power with Britain.

Holland Charmer Is International Beauty Winner

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A sparkling brown-eyed charmer from Holland—much to her surprise — is Miss International Beauty of 1962.

The honor left the winner, Stanny van Baer, 19, of Amsterdam completely amazed Friday night at the International Beauty Congress.

"What can I say?" cried the dewy-eyed queen as cameras flashed in the crush of photographers following her triumph. "I didn't expect it—I'm so happy."

She is a fashion model and aspiring actress. Her little Dutch girl costume had won the points of the judges and the applause of the audience.

She had caught the judges' eyes from the start, a week ago. She won a citation in the playboy division—which in this contest takes the place of a bathing suit competition—and then was named the most photogenic of the 32 entrants.

Second was Brazil's entry, Vera Marie Brauner, 19, a student teacher at Pelotas.

Other finalists finished in this order: Miss Spain, 18, Carmen Cervera; Miss Canada, 20, Edna MacVicar; and Miss Iceland, 18, Sigrun Ragnarsson.

Miss Holland succeeds Stella Marquez of Colombia. The lovely winner, who will represent the pageant during the year, will receive $10,000 cash.

Long Island Man Dies in Thruway Crash, 6 Are Hurt

A Jamaica, L. I., man was instantly killed late Friday night and his six passengers injured, one of them seriously, when a 1954 station wagon went out of control on the Thruway about seven miles south of the Kingston interchange and turned over five times.

Killed was the owner and operator of the vehicle, Harry Fournier, 65.

Condition Is Serious

In Kingston Hospital in serious condition is Mrs. Ann Keller, 32, Bakers Mills, who suffered severe lacerations of the right leg, which she may lose, lacerations of the head and face, possible back and internal injuries and heavy shock.

In fair condition today at the hospital:

John Printzlaw, 14, Jamaica, broken right leg and laceration of the right hand.

Edward Kassebaum, 70, Jamaica, lacerations and abrasions of both hands.

Frederick Keller, 15, Bakers Mills, lacerations of the back of the head and neck.

Richard Keller, 10, Bakers Mills, a severe bump on the head.

In Good Condition

Reported in good condition was Paul Keller, 12, Bakers Mills, lacerations of the legs and other injuries.

Troopers Fred Cooper and Norman Kilfoyle of the Kingston Thruway police were proceeding in a southerly direction on patrol when they witnessed the accident.

Trooper Cooper told The Freeman today that the Fournier suburban was proceeding in a northerly direction in the driving lane when the driver apparently lost control.

The vehicle turned over five times and came to rest on its roof in the passing lane.

Thrown From Car

Thrown from the vehicle were the driver, Mrs. Keller, Kassebaum and one of the boys. Cooper said that one of the boys was also pinned beneath the car which had to be lifted off him by volunteers at the scene.

Trooper Cooper said there were a number of other accidents at the scene as other vehicles attempted to avoid striking injured persons lying in the road.

One of the cars, not identified, swerved, struck the mail, and turned over. The driver suffered minor cuts and bruises, Thruway police said.

Fournier was pronounced dead at the scene, police said.

Orders Autopsy

Coroner Francis J. McCordie of Kingston, who went to the scene, ordered an autopsy on Fournier whose body was removed to Ulster County Morgue.

Trooper Cooper said that examination of the tires of the vehicle indicated that the mishap was not the result of a blowout, as originally believed.

All of the injured persons were taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance. The accident occurred about 11:30 p. m.

Kennedy Taking Rest After Steamy Week

By FRANCES LEWINE

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—

President Kennedy took to the cool sea breezes of Cape Cod today after a steamy week in Washington marked by his call for bolstering American defenses.

Although he planned no meetings with advisers here this weekend, the President reportedly took along some affairs of state to work on.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy was preparing for his Monday meeting with the vice president of Nationalist China, Chen Cheng, and Foreign Minister Shen Chang-hsun.

Combines Work, Play
Kennedy has been combining work and play in his weekends at his summer home here for the past five weeks. He was in good spirits when his big Air Force jet plane landed at Otis Air Force base in nearby Falmouth Friday night. He smiled and waved to a crowd of about 400 that applauded his arrival.

The President got home in time to join in a family celebration of Mrs. Kennedy's 32nd birthday. The First Lady, spending the summer here with her two children, planned a birthday cake. No details of the occasion were made public, including what the President gave his wife as a birthday gift.

Letter Causes Amusement
On arriving presidential aides displayed a letter that caused amusement at the White House because it had come addressed in a large manila envelope that read: "Lt. John F. Kennedy, USNR, ret."

What's more, it contained a consoling note from Adm. Arleigh Burke, retiring chief of Naval operations, that Kennedy should not be disappointed about being passed over for promotion.

Many of those passed over for Navy promotion, Admiral Burke noted, "have achieved a stature in civilian life which ranks them among the leaders of the social, political, professional or financial circles in which they move."

"Failure of selection under such heavy attrition is no disgrace," Burke wrote his reserve officers, and John F. Kennedy, too. "It is just that there were not enough vacancies to effect all of the promotions we would like to make."

Kennedy, a PT boat commander in World War II, left the Navy as a lieutenant commander, but was retired as a lieutenant.

Chicago Expects Ample Milk as 3-Day Strike Ends

CHICAGO (AP)—Milk in ample quantities was expected in Chicago and suburban stores today as the three-day strike ended with the city's 60 dairies and two teamsters locals agreeing to terms.

The settlement was reached late Friday night after hectic hours of bargaining. Representatives of 5,200 milk truck drivers of Teamsters Local 753 and the dairies agreed to a new contract providing for a $4.80 weekly pay hike and other benefits. Drivers had been averaging $124 a week.

Earlier the 3,000 striking plant workers of Local 754 and the dairies reached a settlement after a 24-hour bargaining session in the City Hall office of Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The plant workers struck Tuesday and were joined by the drivers Thursday. After the joint strike, more than 90 per cent of the normal milk flow into Chicago and suburban areas was cut off.

The plant workers' two-year settlement consisted mainly of increased benefits.

Daughter Tells How Her Father Stomped Mother

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) —

"Can you look your father in the eye and tell the court he beat your mother all of your life?" Spade Cooley's lawyer demanded of the former bandleader's teenage daughter.

Melody Cooley, 14, stared at her father. He stared back, impassively. "Yes," said Melody.

The question was one of many asked by attorney P. Basil Lambros during a withering cross-examination of the girl Friday.

Cooley, 50, is accused of killing his wife, Ella Mae, 37, by beating, choking and stomping her at their Willow Springs ranch April 3.

Melody testified her father had forced her to watch the death scene.

"Did your father ever deny you anything?" Lambros inquired. "Yes, sir," the girl replied, "he denied me my mother."

"Which foot did you see Cooley stomp Ella Mae with?" the defense attorney asked.

"The left," said Melody. Lambros then held up a pair of cowboy boots and said, "With these boots on? How many times did he stomp her?"

"Once," the witness said.

"Show us how he did it," Lambros insisted. "You're just guessing, aren't you?"

"I was there, and I saw it," the teen-ager replied.

Lambros didn't press his demand for a demonstration.
